1 IC-6537 Captain GRAMAM KASTURIRANGAM KRISHNA IYENGAR The Corps of Engineers

Effective date of the award 8th November 1958

During the period June to November 1958, Captain G K K Iyengar on the sudden illness of the leader took charge of a party detailed to carry out survey work in a difficult mountainous area.

The party had to traverse increasingly difficult terrain and before it had covered half the distance the local porters refused to proceed further because of the danger to life. This defection would have seriously affected the chances of the party successfully completing its mission but for Captain Iyengar who, by his determination and personal example inspired some members of his party to proceed with the mission. The monsoon had set in making the going more difficult and treacherous and the party suffered from shortage of food and equipment. Captain Iyengar however spurred them on by his leadership and perseverance making it possible for the hazardous task to be completed.

Throughout the expedition Captain Iyengar displayed great courage leadership and devotion to duty of a high order at much risk to his person in the best traditions of the Army.

2 No 2932561 Naik LAI SINGH 17 Bn The Rajput Regiment

Effective date of the award 6th May 1957

While returning from the MEREMA area in Naga Hills in the early hours of the 6th May 1957 a patrol party under the command of Naik Lai Singh was ambushed by hostiles occupying commanding positions on three knolls two in front and one in the rear of the patrol. The hostiles opened fire killing instantaneously the leading man of the patrol and wounding three others.

Undaunted by the hostiles withering fire, Naik Lai Singh went forward some twenty yards in the open and brought back the dead and wounded. The hostiles in overwhelming numbers then started closing in on the Naik's party. His Bren gunner who had till then been giving covering fire was also wounded. Appreciating the gravity of the situation Naik Lai Singh boldly led his men forward and despite the hazard attacked and occupied one of the front knolls which allowed them a better tactical position. He himself carried the Bren gun and though wounded in the early stages of the attack, continued leading his men until they gained their objective. This daring move blunted the hostile attack and the patrol were able to hold their newly occupied position until the arrival of reinforcements.

Naik Lai Singh's courageous leadership and personal bravery were in the best traditions of the Army.

3 No 4035616 Rifleman MADHO SINGH NEGI, 8 Bn The Garhwal Rifles (Posthumous)

Effective date of the award 12th August 1957

On August 12 1957 a patrol of 25 men while engaged in locating a Naga terrorist's hide-out observed three hostiles armed with rifles running out of their khetti huts. The leading section was ordered to pursue the hostiles while the patrol commander with the remaining section searched other huts.

The leading section while in close pursuit of the three hostiles suddenly found itself under heavy automatic and rifle fire from all directions by hostiles numbering about 60 who were well dug in camouflaged positions. When the rear section was rallying to the support of the leading section it received from its left flank a concentrated volley of rifle fire which severely wounded the section commander and the Bren gunner. As a result of this the rear section was unable to advance further and was in danger of being annihilated. At this juncture Rtn MADHO SINGH NEGI along with two other riflemen volunteered to attack an enemy LMG group which had held up the section. With great determination and courage Rtn MADHO SINGH NEGI led his party through thick scrub down a steep gorge and up an equally steep climb to within twenty yards of the hostile LMG group. With fixed bayonets and shouting their regimental battle cry he and his companions made a determined attack on the enemy position. This sudden charge unnerved the hostiles who started withdrawing. Unfortunately at this juncture, a burst from the cleverly concealed hostile position mortally wounded Rtn MADHO SINGH NEGI in the chest. Undeterred by his severe wound, Rtn Negi kept on encouraging his comrades to continue the attack until the remainder of the patrol joined them and routed the hostiles who numbered about 100 strong.

Rtn MADHO SINGH NEGI by his selfless action and leadership set a fine example of high courage and devotion to duty for his comrades in the Army.

AIR FORCE

3391 Squadron Leader REGINALD AZARIAH RUFUS GD(P) IAF

Effective date of the award 26th February 1957

On 26th February 1957 the Prime Minister and his party were travelling from Mangalore to Raipur in a twin engined IAF plane piloted by Sq Ldr RUFUS. About an hour and a quarter after taking off fire and considerable vibration in the port engine were noticed. Immediate steps were taken to put out the fire. With one of the two engines out of action, Sq Ldr RUFUS decided to land at a disused kutchu landing strip at Raichur 25 miles away—the nearest regularly used airfield being more than 80 miles away. By exceptionally accurate judgment and flying skill he made a perfect landing thus ensuring complete safety of the Prime Minister and his party.

Throughout this incident, Sq Ldr RUFUS handled the plane with cool courage and skill in the best traditions of the Indian Air Force.

1 IC-7384 2nd Lieutenant RANGASWAMI NARASIMHAN 2 Bn The Jat Regiment

Effective date of the award 17th February 1957

On the night of 16/17 February 1957 2/Lt R Narasimhan was in command of a platoon sent to locate and raid a hostile SEMA Naga camp about 6 miles from Lumani, Naga Hills, from which there had been constant sniping and ambushing of convoys and patrol parties on the Mokokchung—Zonheboto road.

Although the distance was only 6 miles it took Lieutenant Narasimhan's platoon 5 to 6 hours to reach the hostile camp in that dark wintry night owing to the very difficult mountainous terrain. The platoon reached the well-concealed enemy camp in the early hours of the morning. The hostiles opened heavy automatic fire on them. Determined not to allow the hostiles a chance of withdrawing Lieutenant Narasimhan organised and led a quick assault and broke into the hostile camp engaging them in a hand to hand fight. Two of the platoon were wounded but eight of the hostiles were killed and the remainder including their leader, fled abandoning most of their weapons. Besides arms, Lieutenant Narasimhan and his men by this resolute action captured documents which proved valuable in apprehending other hostile agents and in locating Zhelto's camp and in liquidating him.

This gallant and resolute leadership of 2/Lieutenant Narasimhan raised morale of the loyal Nagas in the area and also proved a deterrent to the hostiles who did not snipe or lay any ambush on the Mokokchung—Zonheboto road for at least six months after the event.

2/Lieutenant Narasimhan despite his lack of experience displayed courage, initiative and leadership of a high order.

2 No 4137859 Havildar DAULAT RAM, 6 Bn The Kumaon Regiment

Effective date of the award 25th November 1957

On 25th November 1957, Havildar Daulat Ram accompanied by an NCO and 50 civilian porters carrying essential food supplies set out to rescue personnel and vehicles stranded in the snow bound area of Baltal Jammu and Kashmir. The road was covered in snow to a depth of 5-6 feet and the party were subjected to the constant danger of avalanches. Havildar Daulat Ram by personal example bravery kept his party going and had covered about 10½ miles when suddenly an avalanche some 15 feet high and 60 feet wide swept down the steep hillside and cut the column in two burying the NCO and a civilian porter. At this, the other porters abandoning their loads ran away, leaving Havildar Daulat Ram alone. He immediately set about digging the snow for the buried men. While doing so another avalanche started moving down and though fully aware of the danger to himself he continued digging till he freed and brought to a safe place single handed both his comrade and the civilian porter.

Havildar Daulat Ram's courageous and selfless action which saved the lives of the two men is worthy of high praise.

3. No. 1303680 Lance Naik RENUGOPAL, 65 Field Company Engineers.

Effective date of the award: 25th August 1957.

On 25th August 1957, the Poonch rivet was in flood due to heavy rain. The two Bailey Bridges which spanned the river were in imminent danger of being washed away. The rise in flood water was so rapid that the island between the two bridges was already below water level. To save the bridges immediate dalaunching of the 200 ft. long second bridge was essential. The Officer and Sapper stationed on the far bank could do nothing without reinforcement. Lance Naik Renuopal was on the far bank, moved his section and forming a human chain crossed over with his men in deep water to the second bridge displaying great courage, skilful leadership and self-determination. His timely reinforcement and confidence to the hands of men on the far side.

Meanwhile the flood water rose to a height of about 12 feet overflowing the decking and all the protective works were swept away. While the bridge was being withdrawn a huge log jammed in the rollers on the pier preventing its withdrawal. Lance Naik Renuopal, seeing that the bridge would be lost if the log were not removed immediately made his way to the pier by wading along the girder. Twice he lost his balance and was nearly swept away but managed to hold on to the rollers and free the rollers by removing the obstruction with his feet under very difficult conditions. He then signalled to the party on the bank to dalaunch. Despite his exhausted state he remained on the pier to see the log further obstruction interfered with the rollers, and as the last bay had crossed the pier he jumped on to the bridge just before a huge quantity of debris crashed into the pier and knocked it down.

In saving the bridge Lance Naik Renuopal displayed great courage and devotion to duty with complete disregard for his own safety in the best tradition of the Army Engineers.

AIR FORCE

4. 10835 Warrant Officer GEORGE ALFRED PADDINGTON, Flight Engineer, I.A.F.

Effective date of the award: 26th February 1957.

Warrant Officer G. A. Paddington was the Flight Engineer in the crew of the twin-engined I.A.F. plane which was conveying the Prime Minister and his party from Mangalore to Raipur on 26th February 1957. After a flight of about an hour and a quarter Warrant Officer Paddington noticed discrepancies in the readings of the port engine instrument and kept a strict watch on that engine which soon caught fire. He informed the Pilot and took prompt and correct action to extinguish the fire thus contributing to the eventual safe landing of the plane.

Warrant Officer George Alfred Paddington's devotion to duty was thus very praiseworthy.

No. 38-Pres./59.—The President is pleased to approve the award of the ASHOKA CHAKRA, CLASS II, for conspicuous gallantry to:—

Sepoy AYAMO LOTHIA, Village Guard, Sungro Outpost, Mokokchung District, Naga Hills. (Posthumous)

Effective date of the award: 21st January 1959.

At 2 A.M. on the 21st January 1959 between 100 and 200 hostiles armed with several light machine guns and rifles attacked the small Village Guard outpost of Sungro in Mokokchung District. Sungro was defended by 37 Village Guards armed with only single shot muskets and a few rifles. The hostile attack penetrated the Village Guard post within 10 minutes. Village Guard Sepoy Ayamo Lothia of Pangtu an Excise Guard, was ordered by the LCO commanding the post to cover the withdrawal of a section of Village Guards whose position had become untenable. He maintained a constant fire against the hostiles making it possible for the rest of the Village Guards to withdraw to a more suitable position. Sepoy Ayamo Lothia was the last man to leave the position and while withdrawing was mortally wounded. Despite his wounds he continued firing on the hostiles. He was subsequently brought back by his comrades but succumbed to his injuries.

Sepoy Ayamo Lothia showed conspicuous courage in resisting the hostiles and helping in the safe withdrawal of his party against overwhelming hostile strength. His supreme sacrifice set an inspiring example for his comrades in the young Village Guards organisation.

No. 39-Pres./59.—The President is pleased to approve the award of the ASHOKA CHAKRA, CLASS III, for gallantry to:—

Lance Havildar NKONSAO LOTHIA, Village Guard, Sungro Outpost, Mokokchung District, Naga Hills.

Effective date of the award: 21st January 1959.

At 2-00 A.M. on the 21st January 1959 between 100 and 200 hostiles armed with several light machine guns and rifles attacked the small Village Guard outpost of Sungro in Mokokchung District. Sungro was defended by 37 Village Guards armed with only single shot muskets and a few rifles. The hostile attack penetrated the Village Guard post within 10 minutes. Lance Havildar Nkonsao Lothia as the senior person in charge of the post immediately took charge of the defence. The sudden burst of hostile automatic machine gun fire killed one of the village guard riflemen outright. Lance Havildar Nkonsao Lothia promptly rushed to the spot and recovered the rifle of the dead Village Guard. In doing so he exposed himself to heavy LMG fire and was hit by a bullet. The hostile attack was made in overwhelming strength and Lance Havildar Nkonsao Lothia realizing that the entire post was in imminent danger of being completely overrun ordered the remainder of the post to fall back to a better position some 30 yards away. He then reorganised his small garrison in its new position and successfully resisted hostile attempts to advance. Despite the superior strength and better weapons of the hostiles, the Village Guards under the inspired leadership of Lance Havildar Nkonsao Lothia withstood the attack and saved valuable Government property and ensured the safety of the administrative Centre including the medical officer, women's officer etc.

By his tenacity and cool, calm leadership Lance Havildar Nkonsao Lothia has set an inspiring example to the members of the young Village Guards Organisation.

PLANNING COMMISSION

(TRANSPORT POLICY AND COORDINATION)

RESOLUTION

Adopted on 22nd July 1959

No. PC(TPT)3/6/59.—The Planning Commission and the Ministries of Railways and Transport and Communications have had under consideration for some time past questions relating to the coordination of different means of transportation, especially rail and road transport, and their future development having regard to the needs of the growing economy of the country. It has been felt that a comprehensive examination of these problems at this stage will be of material assistance in the formulation of plans of future development in the field of transportation. It has accordingly been agreed in consultation with the Ministries of Railways and Transport and Communications to constitute a Committee to study the problems involved, and to make recommendations on the measures required to secure the necessary coordination between different means of transport and on long-term policies and considerations which should guide their future development.

2. The Committee will consist of the following:

Chairman

Shri K. C. Neogy.

Members

1. Shri Vishnu Sahay, I.C.S., Secretary, Planning Commission.
2. Shri R. L. Gupta, I.C.S., Secretary, Department of Transport, Ministry of Transport and Communications.
3. Shri K. B. Wadhwa, Chairman, Railway Board, Ministry of Railways.
4. Shri A. K. Roy, Secretary, Department of Economic Affairs, Ministry of Finance.
5. Shri S. Ranganathan, I.C.S., Secretary, Ministry of Commerce and Industries.

Shri K. I. Pathan, Director, Transport Division, Planning Commission will act as Secretary of the Committee.

3. The terms of reference of the Committee will be as follows:

Taking into account the existing stage of development of the various means of transport and the economic, political, social and strategic purposes which the transport machinery is designed to serve, the Committee should recommend—

- (a) what broadly should be the long-term transport policy of the country, so that the development of the transport machinery may be effected in consonance with our growing needs, with economy and efficiency, avoiding duplication to the maximum extent practicable;
- (b) in keeping with the policy defined under item (a), what should be the role of the various means of transport in the country during the next 5 to 10 years, and

(c) what is the best mechanism for the regulation and coordination of the various means of transport, so that the transport needs of the country are met in an efficient and economic manner consistent with the larger interests of the country?

4. The headquarters of the Committee will be at New Delhi but the Committee may visit such places as may be considered necessary for its work.
